BABE RESCUED FROM UNDER ENGINE PILOT

Temple, July 3.—A parallel to a daring plot of the movies was enacted in reality near here Saturday, when a 2-year-old son of Claud Burdett was rescued from under the pilot of a locomotive as the engine with grinding wheels bore down upon the child.

The youngster wandered away from home while his parents slept. His path carried him onto the railroad right-of-way. The inevitable train appeared and bore down upon him. Both men in the cab saw the child at the same time.

Engineer slammed on the brakes and then put the giant machine into reverse.

In the meantime, the fireman and a brakeman leaped from the cab on either side, ran to the pilot and snatched the child, unharmed, from under the pilot.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Triggs and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triggs left Cameron Wednesday for Colorado to spend several weeks on an outing, this being a vacation trip. The Messrs. Triggs are cotton merchants of Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Otton Eckerman of Holland were Sunday visitors at the homes of John Persky, Albert Rinn and others.

Famous War Message of Wilson Was Written in Early Hours of Morning

Atlantic City N. J., July 4.—President Wilson's famous war message was written on the back porch of the White House by the light of 1 in the small hours of the morning as the President, clad in a bathrobe and munching crackers and milk, jotted down the words he had sought in vain during days and nights of constant thinking.

The history of this celebrated document was revealed here on Monday by William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce in Wilson's cabinet, who is a guest at the Hotel Ambassador.

The finished message was dictated in the President's office, but the circumstances under which it was composed throws a new and interesting light on the event leading up to this country's participation in the great war. Mr. Redfield, in describing the birth of the message, said:

Worried Over Message.

"The President had thought and worried for days over this message, but it seemed the words for which he yearned would not come," said Mr. Redfield. "One evening he retired, quite discouraged, about midnight. Two hours later he was awakened by

DEATH SENTENCE FOR POSTOFFICE BANDIT IN DALLAS

GALLOWS REQUIRUM FOR MAN WHO DIRECTED ROBBERY IN DALLAS.

Dallas, Tex., July 2.—After praying virtually all night for divine guidance in arriving at a verdict in the case against Charles E. Gaines, alias George Wheeler, a jury in criminal district court early today condemned Gaines to the gallows. He was tried for murder in connection with the death of G. W. Street, register clerk in a postoffice robbery here last January.

The story of the jury's deliberations came to light today after the verdict had been read. Several of the jurors offered prayers for the salvation of the doomed man's soul, it was said.

Gaines heard the verdict without visible emotion, later remarking sardonically: "Well, I suppose we must all die some time."

BELL COUNTY SIGNS UP 7,500 BALES IN FARM BUREAU POOL.

No accurate report for Bell county in the Farm Bureau cotton sign-up campaign was available last night but approximately 7,500 bales were covered by the contracts forwarded to the state headquarters at Dallas. Some others are expected as those in the mails are dated yesterday will be counted.

Some have signed contracts and mailed them direct to the office at Dallas. These will be credited to Bell county in the reports sent out from there. The contract gives instructions to mail them to Walton Petret and many who received a copy of the agreement and were not solicited may have followed this course.

Clean-up work may have been done by committees in some communities yesterday and their reports may swell the total. Several came into headquarters at the postoffice building here yesterday alone or accompanied by a friend to sign up before the campaign ended.—Temple Telegram.

Peace With German Empire; Harding Signs Resolution

Raritan, N. J., July 2.—The resolution of congress declaring war with Germany and Austria-Hungary at an end was signed here late today by President Harding.

The president affixed his signature to the measure at 3:10 p. m., eastern standard time, at the home of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, where he is spending the week end.

So that there might be no unnecessary delay in consummation of the long deferred state of peace, the resolution was brought here by special messenger from Washington, where it had been given final congressional approval yesterday. The messenger left for the capital again tonight to complete the formalities of the declaration by depositing the document in the archives of the state department.

Very Informal Ceremony.
There was little of the dramatic in the actual ceremony of giving presidential approval to the measure. Returning here from a luncheon and golf game at the Somerville Hill country club, the president found the White House messenger, E. W. Smithers, waiting for him on the veranda.

Mr. Harding immediately put on his nose glasses and sitting in the porch swing, examined the official copy of the resolution minutely. The signing took place at a small mahogany table in the adjacent living room in the center of a distinguished group which included the president, host and hostess Speaker Gillett of the house and representatives, Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, a member of the senate foreign relations committee, Senator Hall and other members of the week end party.

History—Making Repatee.
As the president's pen scratched out the final letters of his name, one of the group remarked:

"Well, that's that, Mr. President."
"Yes, that's it," replied Mr. Harding with a broad smile and the others responded with a quick burst of hand-clapping, as if the historic significance of the occasion had been borne in upon them.

No formal statement was made by the president in connection with the affixing of his signature and the consummation of the first formal step in the announced peace program of the administration. With other papers of a routine character brought here for his attention, the president returned the peace resolution as soon as it had been signed and then prepared to resume his interrupted holiday by getting back into golf clothes for another work-out on the links.

In signing the resolution, the president used a pen sent him for the purpose by Representative Porter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, and joint author of the measure. The pen will be returned to Mr. Porter as a souvenir.

Washington, July 2.—Signing of the resolution declaring a state of peace with Germany and Austria, it was held here, ended today the technical state of war with those powers. There was some difference of opinion among some lawyers of the administration and diplomats as to whether affixing of the president's signature ended the state of war at the exact moment of signing or whether the resolution would be held to be in force all of today in view that such acts might not require taking into consideration fractions of a day.

The view also was expressed by one or two that the state of peace legally would not be considered in effect until the resolution had been deposited in the state department but almost generally the opinion was held that the state of war was ended today.

The next step, it was pointed out would be the issuing of a formal peace proclamation, which could be expected within a few days. This, it was added, would be a mere formality and in its effect would date from today.

The proclamation, it was explained, would be by President Harding and signed also by Secretary Hughes. A treaty of peace then will be negotiated, it was said, but the administration is understood not to have decided the steps by which it will undertake such negotiations. The signing of the resolution, it was added, opens the way for resumption for diplomatic relations between the United States and the former enemy powers, although it has been indicated that the manner in which this will be approached has not been determined.

The issuing of the peace proclamation as of today, it was pointed out, would operate to terminate war time laws which have not previously been repealed by congressional action. Among the more important are the trading with the enemy act and the Liberty bond act.

Cost of War.
The United States declared war against Germany April 6, 1917.

The World War cost the United States $24,010,000,000. Troops furnished by the various American states for war service 4,764,071.

American casualties: Killed in action 34,248; died of wounds, 18,700; died of disease, 91,189. Total American casualties from all causes were 302,612.

leave to tender their resignations. In this way, he said, it was hoped to avoid forced discharges. For the next few weeks, Weeks added, only routine and requested discharges would be issued. If these do not indicate that the enlisted strength will reach the level fixed by Congress, the question of arbitrarily discharging enough men to make up the difference will then be taken up.

Objections to House reductions in the naval appropriation bill today tied up the measure in the Senate, and with all appropriations expiring within the fiscal year at midnight tonight, caused a technical lapse in funds.

Final disposition of the bill tomorrow was the aim and hope of leaders of both the Senate and House, but they were prepared to rush through an emergency resolution, continuing present naval appropriations, should the deadlock continue.

Senatorial opposition to the House conference report was largely on two items—elimination of all provisions for airplane carriers and a House amendment broadening the navy retirement law so as to extend regular retirement pay and other privileges to enlisted men as well as officers of the Reserve Corps.

PEACE RESOLUTION PASSES SENATE: UP TO HARDING.

Washington, July 1.—Enactment of the compromise resolution, ending the state of war with Germany and Austria, finally was completed today by congress, and the measure now goes to the president, who is expected to sign it within a few days.

The signing of the measure by the president will open the way for the resumption of diplomatic relations with both Germany and Austria, but administration officers have indicated that plans for this have not been worked out.

All opponents of the resolution were democrats, but three democrats, Shields of Tennessee, Walsh of Massachusetts and Watson of Georgia, voted with republicans for adoption. Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, was paired in its favor.

Final action on the measure taken was by the senate, which adopted the conference report by a vote of 38 to 19 after a day of debate, in which the democratic members made a last assault on the resolution. The house acted yesterday, the vote being 263 to 59.

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE.

Tennessee Farmer Wants to Go From House to House and Tell Everybody About Tanlac.

"If I were not so busy with my farmwork I would go from house to house and tell the people about Tanlac," said A. J. Livingston, a well-known farmer, living near Ashland City, Tenn.

"I had stomach and kidney trouble and suffered torment with my back and side. The doctors could do nothing for me so I wrote to a friend of mine in Nashville about Tanlac and he advised me to try it, saying he had heard so many favorable reports about it and sent me a bottle. "After taking the first bottle I felt so much better that I ordered another bottle myself and the result is I am a well man. I told a friend of mine about it and ordered a bottle for him and he had good results. I can eat anything I want and it don't hurt me and can sleep like a log. To tell you the truth, I just simply feel like a new man and have more strength and energy than I have had in years. It is simply the grandest medicine in the world. I would like to see all of my friends and get those who are suffering to try it and I hope you will reach them through this testimonial, which I have gladly given."

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine, which accomplished such remarkable results in this man's case, is a wonderful tonic, appetizer and invigorant. It builds up the system, creates a healthy appetite, promotes digestion and assimilation of the food and makes you feel strong, sturdy and well as nature intended.

"Tanlac is sold in Cameron by New Cameron Drug Co., in Rockdale by Baldrige Bros., in Milano by E. C. Smith and in Burlington by the New Drug Store.

WAITING ON GEOLOGISTS TO SURVEY THE LANDS.

The oil drilling project here at Milano is still waiting on some preliminary arrangements to be completed. Two or three land owners are still being waited on to sign up lease contracts, and Mr. W. F. Brooker reports that the next important move is to have two geologists survey the lands and map out the oil indications. After that it is up to this drilling company to ship down their drilling outfit and get busy, Mr. F. S. Booher, the promoter of the company, together with the geologists are expected to show up here at Milano any time.—Milano Gazette.

NO WATER FOR STOCK IN THORNDALE.

Thorndale has a very pretty stock watering trough in the center of Main street that is a real adornment to our business section, but that is all. There is no cooling water running through this pretty shell, no cooling draft for tired horses that pull heavily loaded wagons of farm produce to Thorndale's markets. At one time long since gone, these tired horses were went to quench their gnawing thirst at this beautiful place, and perhaps today as they draw their heavy burdens into the busy city they wonder why their master no longer drives them to this familiar place that they may quench a terrible thirst and refresh themselves, even as their master who hits for the nearest store or cold drink stand as soon as he reaches town.

Of course, the farmer, if he is interested enough in his faithful animal's can borrow a tub and a bucket and find a well where he can with much effort assuage the thirst of his horses but that's work.

The Commercial Club appointed a committee to look after having the water again connected to this fountain but as yet it has not been done. "Personal business" is the greatest excuse in the world. July 25th is the date of the next Trades Day in Thorndale and a great number of horses will be used in pulling heavy wagons to the city and this watering trough should be connected up before that day and kept in use.

HARDING FROWNS AT DISARMAMENT; MAY MODIFY BILL

MEASURE APPROPRIATING MONEY FOR SMALL ARMY IS SIGNED BY PRESIDENT.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—President Harding informed congress today that while he had signed the army appropriation bill with its provision for a reduction of the regular army to 150,000 men by next October 1, it might be necessary to ask a modification of the measure later.

The executive declared in a special message sent to both the Senate and House that summary dismissal from the army of men who had enlisted for a longer period than October 1, would seem to involve a repudiation of a moral obligation by the government which would have its effect upon the morale of the army and possibly influence enlistments in the future.

The nature of the modifications which might be asked for later was not disclosed, nor did the president explain how it was proposed to meet the moral obligation to the men and the same time carry out the direction of congress to reduce the force by some 70,000 men in the next three months.

He did say, however, that "every effort will be made to meet the requirements of the congress at the earliest possible day."

Secretary Weeks, in discussing the bill today said that if the War Department succeeded in meeting the limitations imposed by Congress, some 30,000 civilian employees of the army, besides the 70,000 enlisted men, would be thrown on the labor market to complicate the unemployment situation. He added that the War Department still hoped to be able to avoid the summary dismissal of any enlisted men in reducing the army.

Enlisted Men May Resign.
The War Secretary explained that an opportunity would be given enlisted men in the service who desire to

THE DAY MOON

By ALICE P. PHINNEY.

(62, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
Clad in cool white she sat on a green hill among the daisies and dreamily watched the pale day moon. An artist's portable camp stool and an easel stood beside her and in her hands was a palette, much daubed with green and yellow. The bees droned and all was sleepy and warm.

Then a man's voice quietly chimed in with her mood—
"There's a superstition about that, you know."

"Yes?" she questioned without moving, and then, startled, she turned to see a tanned, white flannel clad young man standing behind her, his keen blue eyes thoughtfully considering the day moon.

"Funny so few ever write about that or paint it," he was saying. "Now I could place it over hazy hills, between columns of marble—" his long fingers tightened on the brush they held, "but that superstition—" He turned to her and she greeted him with a smile. But it was quite different from that intimate questioning "yes." Oh, it was entirely polite, the smile was, but very cool, for the girl had come back from the white day moon to this queer old world where there are men who have been introduced, and there are others (oh, quite attractive others) who have not.

The artist laughed good humoredly. "I didn't come up to talk of moons," he said, "and I apologize for being so informal, but I'm painting this landscape—" his sweeping gesture took in the sunny hills and the planning river—"and just as I was getting it my light yellows gave out—that's the main tone—and then I saw your easel and wondered if you, being a painter, too—"

"Of course," she admitted, "light yellows. One couldn't paint without them today. But the oil tubes aren't here yet. If you'll wait—" She motioned to him to be seated. "It's wonderful to paint," she said as he complied. "Isn't it, though? And on a day like this."

She nodded and sniffed the sun-scented air delightedly. "Nature's just baking," she declared, and laughed as she added, "Cooking things always smell good to me."

The artist tapped the ground with his brush. "Nature," he said, "is the one artist who is practical. There are so few like that."

In the valley below was a white church, seeming ridiculously tiny as they looked down from the hill. The wee door swung open and—

"Why, that darling white speck," cried the girl. "It's a bride! And the black speck is the groom, and all the rainbow specks are—"

The artist watched them. "From this distance," he mused, "we can suppose them the ideal couple. Mother Nature is healthy, artistic and practical. We people can all be the first and then we have our choice between the other two."

He had often talked in this strain at the club.

"I hope," he added, "that one of those little specks can dream to some purpose and that the other can—boil eggs. They might use the day moon," he suggested.

"Oh," she remembered, "the day moon! What was that superstition?" "An old Hindu thing, I think. Your watching it so intently made me recall it. On the noon of the full of the day moon one should pray to it for his heart's desire. But he won't receive it unless it is worthy and fairly practicable. It's best to sleep with a white cat until the new crescent appears, and there ought to be someone else who wants the same thing. They could vow for the practical."

"How keen you are for the practical," she turned to look at him.

"Well, being an artist I've had to cook for myself now and then. It makes a man think. I shall never marry an artist, while you, now, if you were to marry some intensely practical fellow—"

Suddenly he didn't want her to marry any too intensely practical fellow. "But maybe you're not an awfully good artist," he suggested hopefully.

"I don't wonder our grandmothers laugh at us," she declared, rising briskly. "This way of discussing our most personal affairs in an impersonal way with utter strangers is funny."

He chuckled at her dainty decisiveness, and, rising, too, "Do you know I wish you weren't an artist?"

The girl was shading her eyes and looking off toward the hot, lazy river. A canoe, paddled by a strong, drab clad woman, glided ashore. The girl smiled.

"Ah, there's Annette," she murmured.

"Annette Fraser, the artist," he nodded.

The girl's hazel eyes doubtfully appraised the easel and stool. "I hope these are right."

She turned quizzically toward the artist. "Oh, by the way," she said, and there was amusement in her voice and, yes, apology:

"You see," she waved her hand toward the canoe, "Annette paints," she paused a moment; "I'm a teacher of cooking."

Quite abruptly she sat down among the daisies and lifted her eyes to the day moon.

"No!" he exclaimed, and quite abruptly he sat down on the green bedspread palette, but his eyes—well, he had forgotten the day moon.

Freight Train Is Ditched Near Troy; 3 Unidentified Men Burned to Death in a Fire Consuming the Wreckage

The bodies of three unidentified men, burned beyond recognition, were found under the mangled ruins of a fuel car thrown off the M. K. & T. tracks a mile and a half north of Troy, in one of the worst freight wrecks in the history of the system, occurring when twenty-one cars on No. 72, southbound, left the track near Little Elm trestle about 8:30 yesterday morning.

Fire breaking out immediately amongst the oil strewn wreckage, burned all day and far into the night, eating its way through the splintered wood frames from one end of the line to the other.

The men who are thought to have been white, were seen "hopping" the freight at Waco, it was said. When the tragedy occurred members of the crew endeavored to locate them but were driven back by the flames from the first fuel tank. It was not until about 5 o'clock in the afternoon that proof of their presence in the ruins was discovered. Conjecture has it that the men were riding the very fuel car which caused the conflagration.

Scene of the Wreck.

Cause for the wreck has not yet been established. The ditched cars broke from the center of the train, leaving the engine and the majority of the box cars on the track. It is believed that a broken truck may have been responsible. The scene of the accident was perhaps a mile down the grade which leads into Troy, just north of the double loop which the road makes near that city.

Cattle Burn in Wreck.

Two cattle cars with some fifty or sixty head of stock were consumed by the fire. Cars of grain and flour, empty gas drums, lumber, farm implements and other material, smashed and overturned, were cast on either side of the rails, their contents strewn about.

Wreckers were dispatched at once to the scene, but were held off by the intense heat until late in the morning. The crew of No. 72, after pulling the box cars left on the tracks out of danger, worked with the chaotic mass for over an hour, then continued to Smithville. While one fuel car was still burning in the afternoon, the terrible heat had subsided enough to allow the work of clearing up the tracks to make road progress. During the day and last night all passengers and freight cars were cleared from the tracks. The wreckage at Waco, by the Cotton Belt to McCombs and thence by Santa Fe to Temple.

Wreck Near Creek.

Surprise was expressed that the results of the wreck were not even more serious. The accident occurred just north of the trestle, the ditched cars plunging part way down or to the bottom of a twelve-foot embankment. Had they left the tracks a hundred feet further south the train would have been thrown into the creek, a drop some thirty feet, which might have involved still more cars.

Many Visit Scene.

Although the wreck was located about a mile east of the Waco pike, automobiles were brought up to within a short distance through a private path, and several hundred people visited the scene at different times. Salvagers, though hampered in their work, managed to save a considerable quantity of implements and other bulky material while nearly all the oil and gas drums were removed. Men on the regular wrecking crew were faced with the problem of clearing away the wreckage to restore the track, then advancing the cranes over the restored sections in order to lift away still other tangles of iron and wood. They were working against time in an effort to remove this material from the path of the fire, which late yesterday afternoon was confined to the north end and gradually working down.

Wheat Spilled Along Track.

Knee-high piles of fine wheat lay beside one portion of the track where a laden box-car had spilled and spewed forth its contents. Twisted iron and steel marked the pier of a load of farm machinery, wagons, etc. On the far side of the embankment where the cattle cars went off, traces of the burned animals were barely distinguishable, but were evident to close observers.

The dense smoke from the oil flames was visible from just outside Temple, while the flames themselves could be seen from Troy. This smoke proved another obstacle in the way of wreckers, who were buried at times in the sooty gases.

The victims of the wreck practically incinerated, were found beneath the trucks and steel of the first fuel car. Two of these men were completely burned, retaining only their general shape, and all were absolutely unrecognizable. Any clues to their identity which might have been carried with them were consumed with their clothing.

The remains of the victims were brought to Temple last night and are being held in the Wright Undertaking parlors for results of further investigation. An inquest was held by Justice Williamson. Members of the freight crew are being sought in order to obtain any information which they may have as to the identity of the alleged "hoboes" seen at Waco.

GRAND JURY FAILS TO INDICT KU KLUX KLAN.

Austin, Texas, July 1.—The Travis county grand jury, which under special charge of Judge James R. Hamilton of the Criminal District Court, investigated the Ku Klux Klan organization in Austin, in its final report Thursday declared that "although threats and warnings are being received, we do not believe they originate with the Ku Klux Klan, but they are bearing their fruit of bitterness, fear and suspicion—dangerous passions in a community."

The grand jury reported that it has no information on which to pass judgment on the proposed methods of this organization or the good citizenship of its members.

"The local conditions with reference to crime and morals demand serious attention, but we are convinced that the safety, honor and welfare of the community can best be subserved by the open, lawful operation of all good citizens with the regular constituted authorities," the report says.

No indictments were returned in connection with the Ku Klux Klan investigation.

"With the ends sought by this organization as expressed in the placards posted throughout the city we are in full accord," the grand jury report said. "If such an organization were formed in the open, with the intent to urge by all legal means and every legitimate form of moral pressure, a rigid enforcement of the laws, we should be glad to join it. That there are many offenses against public morality and common decency for which the law makes scant provision may be true, but for these we believe an aroused public opinion and unsparing publicity offers a remedy just as effective and far less dangerous."

Such movements, the grand jurors declare, are apt to fall in the hands of extremists and go far beyond the original intent.

Work of the peace officers of Austin and Travis county is commended by the grand jury. The suspended sentence law is criticised, the grand jurors saying that its habitual application is a distinct encouragement to criminal adventure.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

GLASSES FITTED
Cameron, Texas

Why An Optometry Law?

Forty-seven States in this country have passed legislation regulating the scientific fitting of glasses—OPTOMETRY. Texas alone has no such restriction hence the outcasts from the regulated States are flocking here and defrauding our people and often selling them glasses that strain the eyes instead of making them comfortable. Every citizen should see his legislators and request them to favor such regulation in Texas.

The Tartars Had Literary Tastes

The lowly and uncultured Tartars—when books fell into their possession—ate them to acquire the knowledge contained therein. They doubtless suffered indigestion. At least, they weren't overlooking any bets.

There are mistakes both of commission and omission. Better, by far, to be satisfied that you have done your best and endure indigestion, than overlook real opportunities and feel the pangs of unavailing regret.

The Simplest Little Secret

The Chiropractic secret of good bodily health is very simple—so simple it may surprise you.

First of all, the science of Chiropractic assumes that the Creator knew His business when He made man. Barring accidents, man does not NEED A CRUTCH. If he did the Creator would have furnished him with one. Similarly, man's internal machinery should not need ANYTHING to make it run properly.

Granted that the Creator knew his business, we must concede that the body of man is a FINISHED PRODUCT—a complete machine. Then why doesn't it run properly? Why isn't EVERYONE healthy?

Suppose you have an auto. You run it over rough, bumpy roads. You race the engine. You neglect to oil the bearings. You let the valves get choked up. You put low grade gasoline in the tank. In short, you pay no attention to the car, thinking it will run indefinitely, no matter how you abuse it. And one day the car refuses to run. Why?

Now, when the auto gets stalled, do you pour sassafras tea in the tank, put a Seidlitz powder in the radiator and bathe the carburetor with oil of cinnamon?

YOU DO NOT. You go to an expert mechanic. The car is ALL THERE and the PARTS need adjusting. That's the mechanic's job.

A Chiropractor is a mechanic of the bodily machine. He does not employ drugs. He simply adjusts the human machine and then lets it alone.

Nature is the REAL curative agent. He isn't trying to get Nature's job away from her. He couldn't if he tried.

This, then, is the Chiropractic secret of health; adjust the bodily machine and then let it alone. Result—Health.

Cameron Defeats Rosebud.

Before one of the largest crowds yet to witness their playing the Bear Cats defeated the newly organized team at Rosebud Sunday afternoon 5 to 3, but it required eleven innings to turn the trick. Page pitched the game throughout for the Bear Cats while Lefty Munch twirled for the opponents. Rosebud registered three runs in the fifth inning, only one of which was an earned run but were overtaken by the Cats in the seventh. In the eleventh Cameron scored two runs and in this frame Wood was substituted for Munch. An error by Wood contributed one of the runs made by Cameron.

Cameron Defeats Thorndale.

Cameron added a star in its crown by defeating the crack team brought over from Thorndale on the local diamond in an excellent exhibition Friday afternoon, the Bear Cats taking the game to the tune of 7 to 3.

An excellent crowd witnessed the game and many cars from the surrounding territory were parked within the enclosure. Hagler of Rogers pitched an excellent game for Cameron. Thorndale had defeated Hagler on two occasions prior to this set-to and it was the consensus of opinion by the fans that the fielding by the Bear Cats saved the day for him. The Cats were murderous with the willow sticks, registering a total of six, two-base swats. Page in right field and Whitlock in left field deserve special mention by their work.

Before an immense crowd Cameron was humbled by the Sharpe aggregation Saturday afternoon in an eleven inning game by the score of 7 to 6. Cameron took the lead in scoring in the fourth frame by registering two runs. In this same half Sharpe had made one score. Sharpe then forged to the front with three in the sixth inning, but were overtaken in the seventh. Cameron had the game on ice on two occasions only to be cheated out of victory by errors by the Cats. In the ninth inning Neighbors made a costly error at the plate which let in a run and the tie score followed in the same inning. Eckhart made a wild throw in the eleventh scoring the Cameron vs. Rogers.

The crippled up Bear Cats suffered the worst defeat of the season on July 4th before the largest crowd of the season. The Rogers aggregation turned their machine guns loose and it sounded like a small arm brigade in action when the Rogers team were at bat. When the farce ended they had annexed a total of seventeen hits, which included two two-base swats and two three-base blows.

TRACTOR AND DRIVER FALL THROUGH BRIDGE.

Taylor, Texas, July 2.—Mart Townsend, about 25 years old, employed on the J. P. Sturgis farm near Bayersville, was severely injured Wednesday afternoon when he fell from the bridge over Brushy Creek. Townsend was driving a tractor and towing a farm wagon loaded with gasoline and other supplies. As he was in the middle of the bridge the steering wheel broke and the tractor and wagon ran off the bridge, falling twenty or thirty feet.

Townsend was thrown clear of the tractor and landed on the edge of the water. His falling into soft mud is the only thing that saved his life. He was brought here for medical attention and is reported doing nicely today.

DEMPSEY IS KING; CARPENTIER BEATEN

Ringside, Atlantic City, N. J., July 2.—Jack Dempsey is still heavyweight champion of the world.

A crashing right smashed from the American fighter shattered the titular aspirations of Georges Carpentier in the fourth round of the so-called "battle of the century" here this afternoon. The pile-driving blow landed flush upon the jaw of the Frenchman flooring him for the second time in a trifle more than a minute of fighting in the final and decisive round.

THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

First Round.

Carpentier sent left to body in a clinch. Carpentier landed light right to head. Clinch. Carpentier uppercut right to chin. Carpentier jabbed face with left. Clinch. Dempsey pounded back of head with right. Carpentier missed right to head. Dempsey holds and hits with right to head, staggering Carpentier, one punch cutting nose. Carpentier landed terrific right under eye. Jack hooked left to head. Clinch. Dempsey uppercut to face and left to nose. Carpentier missed right to head. Clinch. Jack smashed Carpentier with right. Carpentier missed with right and fell through ropes. Carpentier landed right to face, staggering Dempsey ten seconds before the bell. The round ended with the fighters together, but neither doing any damage. Dempsey's round. Carpentier looked bad. His ribs and stomach were red. His nose was cut.

Second Round.

They danced about. Carpentier missed left and they clinched. On the break, Carpentier danced away and then landed hard right to head. Carpentier resumed retreat, but came in with left and right leads missing both. Carpentier hooked left to head and in a clinch Dempsey uppercut with left. Carpentier landed left and right to head, staggering Dempsey repeatedly, and as Dempsey reached uppercut three times with right, but Dempsey came back and split Carpentier's left cheek with his right. Carpentier retreated with Dempsey in pursuit and fought continually for a clinch. Carpentier tried two left jabs and a right swing. Dempsey shifted and missed with right. Carpentier tried right for the body, but missed. Dempsey was almost out in the middle of this round. Carpentier rocked him and he went against the ropes with his guard down, taking rights to jaw. He recovered quickly and the Frenchman seemed to lose a little heart.

Third Round.

Dempsey bored in. Carpentier dancing away. Dempsey landed right to head, but it was too high. Carpentier returned the compliment. Carpentier missed terrific right. Then Carpentier uppercut twice to the face and missed on third attempt. In a clinch Dempsey pounded head and body with both hands. Carpentier missed another right and almost fell to the floor. Dempsey missed two hooks to head and landed with same blow. Dempsey pounded head with left and right, staggering Carpentier. Dempsey jabbed Carpentier's face. Carpentier missed a left and right to head. Clinch. On the break Carpentier danced away and again missed with both hands. In close they pummeled without damage. Ten seconds before the bell Dempsey landed two lefts and two rights to the head that jarred the Frenchman. Dempsey's round.

Fourth Round.

Dempsey pounded head and body and put a right. Dempsey uppercut with right to the face, but on the break Carpentier leaped in with right to head. Dempsey floored Carpentier with a right to the jaw. Dempsey landed right to jaw, flooring Carpentier for a count of five. When he arose Dempsey tore after him like a tiger and before the challenger was fairly set Dempsey chopped him on the jaw with another right and Carpentier went down for the full count. When the referee stood over him, telling off the seconds, Carpentier struggled manfully to arise, lifting his arms as if in protest against the count, but unable to pull himself to his feet. The knockout came ten minutes and 10 seconds after the going started the fourth round. The bell rang at 3:18½.

STEWARDS' MEETING.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira F. Key entertained the Stewards and their wives of the M. E. church Tuesday night.

The men held their business session while the ladies talked, then they joined for an hour on the beautiful lawn.

Mrs. C. W. Benson, of Alvin, sang "The Rosary," very sweetly, and little Misses Ruth Kemp and Margaret Key gave several readings each. After this Mrs. Key served a delicious salad course consisting of tongue salad, wafers, individual lemon pies, pickles and ice tea. Those present other than the stewards and their wives were: Messdames J. B. Sears, of Dallas, C. W. Benson, of Alvin and Mattie Batte.

NUMBER OF NEW LAWS WENT INTO EFFECT LAST SATURDAY QUITE LARGE.

Of 140 bills passed by the last session of the legislature many went into effect, or became law last Saturday. The more important bills that became law were the University of Texas land acquisition bill which carried an appropriation of $1,370,000 for the purchase of 135 acres of land near the campus. It will be noticed that the price of the land per acre is $10,000. The anti-Japanese land ownership also an important measure that is now law. Under this provision Japanese cannot hold real estate in Texas from and after the measure became a law. The bill which carried an appropriation of $3,000,000 to supplement the available school fund, also became law Saturday.

Following are some of the other important laws:
Prohibiting betting on elections, with a fine of from $25 to $1,000 and confinement in the county jail from 20 to 60 days or both fine and jail penalty.
Postponing until October 15th the publishing of the delinquent tax list and reducing the penalty for non-payment from 10 to 5 per cent.
For honest and truthful advertising.
Fixing January 1 as the permanent date on which county and precinct officers must qualify following each biennial election.
Designating November 11 as "Victory Day" and making it a legal holiday in Texas.

ARE YOU AFRAID OF CRITICISM?

It is useless to try to be fearless and just at the same time avoid hurting the feelings of some persons; it can't be done. If you do anything worth while you must expect to have some enemies. If you would do more than a little person in a very small sphere you are bound to rouse enmity and hear some very uncomplimentary remarks about yourself. All men who do things—big things—make enemies.
A fearless writer usually has a goodly following of well-wishers and admirers, but he also has a good many enemies who seek at every opportunity to knock him and his work. The man holding the highest political office is called incompetent by those who are far below him in mental calibre and capacity. And so it goes along the line of man's advancement.
If you care more about persons speaking well of you than you do for the principles which actuate your life, or if you prefer not to be mentioned rather than be criticised, it is just as well for you to go along in your spineless way, for your mental concept is wrong.—Houston Chronicle.

One Day Canning Demonstration In Cameron July 12

MRS. ADDIE SULLIVAN WILL CONDUCT SCHOOL FOR BENEFIT OF WOMEN IN CAMERON.

Gorge Banzhaf, county farm demonstrator, announces a one day canning demonstration here on July 12. This demonstration will be conducted by Mrs. Addie Sullivan of the extension service of the A. & M. College. Following is a letter from Mrs. Sullivan outlining the plan of the work.

Mr. George Banzhaf,
Rockdale, Texas,
My Dear Mr. Banzhaf:

I shall be in your county July 11th and 12th to give demonstrations in food preservation and steam pressure cookery. When you decide where you want this work done, I advise that you appoint a committee of the leading ladies of the community to arrange for the supplies and the meeting places. This will relieve you, make them feel the responsibility of getting things ready, and cause them to take more interest in the work.

I find that the women have their greatest difficulty in canning corn and beans, so I have planned to give demonstrations in canning these products. I am having tin cans sent to Rockdale to use in the demonstration. We shall need about a gallon of tender fresh beans and ten or twelve ears of freshly gathered corn for this work. If any of the ladies are interested in meat canning an old hen, steak, or roast will be good for this. Now I want to give what the people need and if there is something else they want I shall be glad to give it if we have time. For the pressure cookery demonstration, we shall need vegetables such as snapped beans, Irish potatoes, etc., and an old tough fat hen, the tougher the better—is fine.

I have found it much more satisfactory to have the demonstrations in some home where we can have the necessary equipment. It is hard to provide equipment when the meetings are held at public buildings.
If you wish to communicate with me send me a letter to the College by July first or second.

I am looking forward with much pleasure to my visit in your county.

Yours very truly,

ADDIE SULLIVAN.

TAFT NAMED JUSTICE OF HIGH COURT.

Washington, June 30.—Appointment of former President William Howard Taft as chief justice of the United States was formally announced today at the White House. He will succeed the late Edward Douglass White, whom he appointed to the office in 1910. Co-incidental with the announcement, Mr. Taft's nomination for the place was sent to the senate. It was indicated that President Harding had acted so far in advance of the winter term of the court because he felt that the new chief justice should have ample time to re-organize the court's business before the re-convening October 1.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best, before putting more food into the stomach, to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisons before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.
If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.
Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.
A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.
Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

A Drop In the Bucket

A dollar saved each week may only seem like a drop in the bucket now, but in time you'll have the bucket filled. Then you can use the contents for watering your garden of Hopes and seeing the things you have dreamed of come into reality.

It will lead to bigger and better things if you add to it as your ability will permit.

Start today and watch the surprising results.

"Doris!" called a shrill voice from the recess of the house. "What are you doing out there on the piazza? It is getting dark and growing rather chilly; you had better be coming in!"

"We are only talking," came back the quiet answer, "and it is not a bit cold."

"Very well," the shrill voice went on, "but you must come in very shortly."

"All right, Aunt Milinda," and Doris sighed, as she looked at the manly form dimly outlined in the twilight before her. "We have a good supervisor, Jim," she spoke slowly.

"We have, at that," he said, teasingly; "but I do not blame her, when she is your guardian."

"Doris! D-o-r-i-s!" Came the call again.

"Yes, Aunt Milinda, we are coming." And with a final, wistful glance at the harvest moon they entered the house.

Aunt Milinda sat beside the kitchen table knitting, and did not seem to notice their approach.

"Would you like some music, Jim?" Doris asked.

Jim opened his mouth to agree heartily with this proposal, but shut it with a snap, for Aunt Milinda was ready before him.

"No, Doris, it is too chilly in the parlor this fall evening, and anyway, the lamp needs fixing."

Doris sighed, and Jim unconsciously joined in. It was hard being in love with a girl for four years, who had an aunt like Aunt Milinda.

The old-fashioned clock ticked away heartlessly, but somehow the conversational powers of the trio were limited.

Finally Aunt Milinda looked at the clock suggestively and peered over her gold-rimmed spectacles at the caller.

"It seems to me the men folks make rather late calls on the girls nowadays. When I was a girl the boys always went home sharp at nine o'clock!"

"Perhaps I had better be going," Jim said, rising to his feet, apologetically. "Please don't," Doris begged, "you have just barely got here."

Then the rapid clicking of the steel needles grew slower and finally stopped entirely. Aunt Milinda's head fell back against the chair and she was asleep!

"Shall we see if that harvest moon is still there?" a deep voice asked joyfully.

"Of course!" a softer voice replied, and two dim forms crept stealthily from the house.

"Has your aunt ever been in love?" Jim asked abruptly, as they wandered along the river bank.

"Yes, once, but she lost faith in her lover and is now a sworn man hater," she answered. "His name was Paul and they were going to be married, but a little trouble arose just before the wedding and the wedding was cancelled. But Paul wrote to her and asked to be allowed to come to her home to explain. Aunt Milinda was very proud, but decided to let him come. She wrote to him, telling him so, but he never came and died very suddenly a short time afterward."

"That was unfortunate," Jim spoke seriously, "and I can understand now why she is so opposed to me."

They walked along thoughtfully and contentedly, forgetting how rapidly the time was slipping by.

Aunt Milinda opened her eyes in fright and jumped to her feet. Where was she, and why was she alone? She rubbed her eyes in bewilderment and reached anxiously for the lamp.

"Doris! Doris!" she called, but there was no answer. The clock struck ten.

It did not take long to light the lamp and begin a hurried search for her beloved niece.

Suddenly she heard a little scratching and a weird scuffling in the wall. "Mice!" shrieked Aunt Milinda, and with a frantic bound landed on top of the table. There was a crash and a crumbling sound, and the next thing she knew she was sitting on the floor, surrounded by pieces of an old kitchen table.

As she sat there, trying to discover what had happened, she saw an old, yellow letter in the ruins, addressed in her own handwriting.

"Well, I declare," she spoke excitedly, reaching nervously for it. "I never mailed that letter to Paul, after all. It must have slipped in a crack of the table when the other letters were mailed. No wonder he never answered!"

Doris and Jim heard the crash in the house and came rushing in to see what had happened. There sat dignified Aunt Milinda on the floor with a broken table around her and a letter in her hand.

"Oh, Aunt Milinda," Doris cried, "are you hurt?"

"Only my pride," she answered brightly, as they helped her carefully to her feet, "now, you two young folks go out on the piazza and visit the moon. I am going to bed." And she started up the stairs.

"But Aunt Milinda—" Doris began.

"No 'buts,' only wrap up warm; it may be chilly," and she disappeared with the letter clasped tightly in her hand.

Jim looked at Doris and Doris looked at Jim—and then two happy people hurried out to the piazza to "visit with the moon."

Caneron Cotton Oil

MILANO TO HAVE TEST FOR BOTH SHALLOW AND DEEP OIL

Milano, Texas, June 14.—A deal has just been consummated here between Kansas City and Waco parties and local citizens by which the Milano territory is to be tested for oil. A syndicate has been formed to be known as the Mexia-Milano Oil Syndicate with headquarters at Waco and a branch office at Kansas City, Mo. The officers are well known oil people. Mr. F. S. Booher of Waco is president; Dr. A. J. McLaughlin of Kansas City, is vice-president; and G. H. Gray of Waco is assistant secretary treasurer.

The personnel of this syndicate would indicate that they know their business and will undoubtedly be successful in developing an oil field in this territory. The acreage selected by them has without question some of the most favorable natural indications of oil and gas of any section of Texas having the Mexia-Groesbeck field to the north and living on the same structure of the Milnerva-Tracy and Thrall fields on the southwest; shallow producing gas wells on the north, and the natural conditions of the immediate territory would lead one to believe that all that is necessary is to drill a well to a greater depth and oil in paying quantities would be assured. There are at present including deep and shallow twenty wells now drilling, with sixty wells producing oil in Milan county.

The citizens of Milan and surrounding territory have always contended that they have an oil field here, and if the proper methods were pursued their contention would be substantiated. Everybody here is very enthusiastic over the future possibilities of oil here and are lined up behind this syndicate to a man. The bankers and business men have stated that all they want is the assurance of this syndicate that they mean business and as soon as they have begun operations they will be with them morally and financially. It is planned to have a big picnic and barbecue on the day that the first well is spudded in and some of the citizens have threatened to dig up the remains of their cellars and pull off a real old time Texas celebration.—Milano Gazette.

LAYED UP SEVERAL DAYS BY STICKING NAIL IN FOOT.

Mr. W. G. Allen of west Milano stuck a nail in his right foot one day last week and has hardly been able to get about. But he managed to be in town Monday and reported that the grass was growing so fast in the fields that he didn't have time to let his foot heal up. Said a season like this spring and summer sure kept a man hustling on the farm.—Milano Gazette.

LIGHT OFFERED ON TRUCK LAW

REPRESENTATIVE BAKER SAYS
IT IS MISUNDERSTOOD, BUT A WISE LAW AND SHOULD STAND.

Hon. O. D. Baker, representative of Milam and Bell counties in the Legislature, was in Cameron Tuesday and called at the Enterprise office and made the following statement regarding the law taxing trucks above one-ton capacity.

"The bill originated with the county commissioners' court of Dallas county. It was introduced in the House of Representatives by Jno. D. Davis, of Dallas county and in the Senate by the late J. C. McNealus, also of Dallas. In the House it was referred to the committee on roads, bridges and ferries, of which I am a member, and in return was referred to a subcommittee, of which I was chairman. I called the members of the Texas Highway Commission and State and Federal highway engineers in consultation and they all urged the passage of the bill. They all suggested drastic amendments. Mr. Windrow of the State and Mr. Fountleroy of the Federal highway engineers, offered amendments which were adopted by the House and incorporated into the bill.

"This same law is practically a copy of the law of Louisiana and is a law in many of the Northern and Western States.

"The bill places a mileage tax upon the operation of commercial trucks and does not tax the one-ton truck and does not put a tax on trucks used by the producer to transport agricultural products raised by himself. It prohibits the use of trucks of greater than five-ton capacity except by special permission of the highway commission. Trucks used in building and maintaining roads are exempted, also tractors used on roads and by farmers.

"I believe it is a wise and just law. Representatives of the commissioners' court of Dallas county appeared before the committee and stated that it was absolutely useless to build highways unless some provision be made to repair highways destroyed by the trucks.

"Captain Fountleroy, Federal highway engineer threatened to withdraw Federal aid unless Texas passed such a law.

"I do not propose to go contrary to the wishes of the people of Milam county and will not do so, but I believe that this is a wise law and hope that the people will consider the matter seriously before signing petitions for its amendment or repeal.

"Much that has been said against the law is misleading and tended to confuse the minds of the people, rather than to enlighten them."

Mr. Baker was leaving for New York and promised to write some letters to The Enterprise about his trip. —Cameron Enterprise.

MORE HARD LUCK FOR DEEP TEST.

BROKEN DRILL STEM WEDGED
IN BOTTOM OF HOLE BRINGS MORE GRIEF TO OIL MEN.

After successfully working through a heavy boulder formation from the 700 foot level to the 1300 foot mark the Bremont Ranch Syndicate deep test on the Shelby Phillips place near Thorndale has had smooth sailing until the past week, as they entered the 1600 foot level the heavy drill stem weakened by the tremendous jarring on the stones gave way and broke about a hundred feet above the bottom of the hole. In fishing for the broken part a second stem was also broken making two feet close fishing jobs now in progress at this test.

In speaking of the matter to manager Ralph Babcock stated that "if any other driller, except Frank Barlett was on the job the well would have been shut down and plugged up, and if another well had been started it would just depened. But with Frank on the job it's different. I know he is the best driller that ever "spit on a bit," and if Frank can't get these tools out there is no use for anyone else to even try. It's going to be a long, tiresome job we realize that, but, well you know that old story about "hope burns eternal in the human breast," well, that's us."

NEW TEXAS LAW COVERING POSTING OF LEGAL NOTICES.

All notices heretofore required to be posted, must now be printed in some newspaper in the same county and for the same length of time as it was formerly necessary to post such notices. The posting of the notice is not now required, and is only that much extra trouble, as they have no legal value or significance. Act of 1917, Sec. 4, Art. 60-19 1-2. Note particularly that a posted notice is not a legal notice and no bond or other election is valid unless same is published as required by law.

KLAN WARNING IN CAPITOL GROUNDS

PROMINENT NOTICE IN AUSTIN ADVISES UNDESIRABLES TO LEAVE THE CITY.

Austin, Texas, July 2.—A warning and proclamation signed by the Ku Klux Klan was found tacked to a tree in the capitol grounds this morning. The tree on which the notices were placed is located about thirty feet from the north entrance to the capitol, between the curbing and the sidewalk.

It is in a conspicuous place and very noticeable as a person enters the north gate.

The warning said that idlers, vagabonds, bootleggers, agitators and a number of other classes of people similar must go and that 100 per cent Americanism must prevail in Austin. The proclamation said that the Klan was against mob rule and lynchings, but was more strongly against such things that caused mob rule and lynchings. It is asserted that the innocent people need not be alarmed, as they would not be molested.

This is the second notice of the kind to appear in Austin, the other being found near the court house about ten days ago. It was evidently placed on the tree some time Saturday night, as the capitol watchmen said it was not there Saturday afternoon.
